CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1921.

COUNTY ENROLLMENT WILL BE DOUBLE FORMER YEARS

To Vote at Primaries Must Register as Member of
Some Party

TO FILL IMPORTANT OFFICES

The work of registering and enrolling the voters of Washington county is proceeding satisfactorily in all of the 157 precincts. Reports from the registry assessors indicate that the number of names on the lists this year will be fully double that of any previous year in the history of the county.

In many districts the women are showing an unusual interest in the matter and are taking pains to see that themselves and friends are properly registered and enrolled as members of one of the political parties.

A voter who does not declare political choice cannot vote at the primaries on September 20 next.

The registry assessors are visiting every home in their respective districts and are required to note the name and address of every eligible voter, man or woman, who may reside therein and to place their names on the registry list.

A number of important county officials are to be nominated at the coming primaries in September, and every party voter should see to it that he or she is properly registered and enrolled in order that they may have a part in the selection of candidates.

The offices of county controller, and poor auditor are to be filled at the coming general election, and also the new officials provided for in the recent Act of Assembly, which gives Washington county two additional officers.

Ask your friends who have had their carpets and rugs cleaned by the Electric Carpet Cleaning Company as to the quality of the work. All our customers are surprised and pleased at the great improvement in the appearance of their rugs after cleaning by us. Electric Carpet Cleaning Co., Raymond L. Anniversary Celebrated By the Epworth League

The thirty-second anniversary of the Epworth League was fittingly celebrated by the local Chapter of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Sunday evening, in the presentation of a pageant, "The Hope of the World," by Magelaine Sweeney Miller, under the efficient direction of Miss Vida Goehring, first vice president. A large audience which filled the lecture room of the church thoroughly enjoyed the pageant. This presentation was prepared for the express purpose of showing the people the work of the Epworth League not only in the United States, but in other countries.

The first scene was an American home, in which four young people were voicing their hatred of Sunday in not being able to play cards, dance and still be considered respectable. Their conversation was interrupted by the Spirit of the Epworth League who told them of the young people of every land receiving inspiration for Christ from the devotional meetings of the League and challenged them to come with him.

BANDIT DEAD FROM A GUNSHOT WOUND

James E. McGauharn, of Columbus Ohio, characterized as a notorious yegg man, who was fatally shot in an encounter with Washington officers one day last week, died in the City hospital, at the county seat, early Saturday morning last. McGauharn, with two companions, were apprehended by Washington officers after receiving a message from Clyde, that three men in an automobile, and evidently in a state of intoxication, were headed for the county seat. The Washington officers had no trouble in spotting the trio when they arrived at the county, but they failed to stop when requested to do so. On the contrary they put on speed and endeavored to escape.

The officers commandeered a high powered car and started in pursuit. Overtaking the trio they endeavored to arrest them, when the bandits, as they proved to be, put up a fight in which many shots were fired, one of them proving fatal to McGauharn. One other of the trio was captured, while the third made his escape. McGauharn made no confession before his death, preferring to die in the dark, as he expressed it. His body was taken in charge by relatives and shipped to Columbus, where the funeral will be held.

AN ORDERLY PROGRAM

It was to be expected that President Harding's decision to have this country an official part in the deliberations of the Supreme Council would be followed by statements of the partisan Democratic press that another Wilson policy had been adopted by the Republican Administration. But this is by no means the case. It will be recalled that Mr. Wilson, when he was at length convinced that the United States would not accept the league of nations and his program of internationalism, withdrew the official representatives of this Government from the council and severed all connections with it. This was done in a spirit of peevishness and in the belief that the interests of this country might be so jeopardized as to bring pressure to bear on the Senate to swallow the Wilson program whole. The pressure followed, but the Senate wisely withstood it.

The resumption of unofficial relations with the council imports no obligations other than an earnest desire to be helpful in solving the vast problems with which the allies are confronted. Mr. Harding could have given no better assurance of his unyielding determination to preserve the free action of the United States than by his selection of the man who will take part as the representative of the President of the United States in the deliberations of the supreme council, namely George Harvey, one of the most redoubtable irreconcilables in opposition to the league of nations. Nor does the selection of Colonel Harvey as the representative of the President bear any analogy to the naming of Colonel House as 'personal representative' of Mr. Wilson during the greater portion of the latter's incumbency, for Harvey's status as Ambassador to Great Britain bears the confirmation of the United States Senate, while House had no authority whatever to speak for the United States.

The partisan press of the opposition will seek in vain for some inconsistency of attitude on the part of the Administration which it can play up to the glorification of its deposed dictator, and having failed in its quest it will resort to invention. But Harding's words to the Congress in his first address display the program to which he is rigidly adhering and which may well be reiterated:

"The situation is so involved that our peace engagements can not ignore the Old World relationships and the settlements already effected, nor is it desirable to do so in preserving our own rights and contracting our future relationships." The weariness at home and the disappointment of the world have been compensated in the proof that this republic will surrender none of its heritage of nationality, but our rights in international relationships have to be asserted; they require establishment in compacts of amity; our part in readjustment and restoration can not be ignored, and must be defined. With the super-governing league definitely rejected and with the world so informed and with the statue of peace proclaimed at home, we may

...ected to negotiate the covenanted relationships so essential to the recognition of all the rights everywhere of our own nation and play our full part in joining the peoples of the world in the pursuits of peace once more. We can be helpful because we are moved by no hatreds and harbor no fears. Helpfulness does not mean entanglement, and participation in economic adjustments does not mean sponsorship for treaty commitments which does not concern us, and in which we will have no part."

The Administration program is proceeding in orderly fashion and in accordance with American and Republican principles.

FITTING CELEBRATION

From the manner in which Monongahela is preparing to celebrate the dedication of its soldiers' monument, which will be unveiled on Memorial Day, it expects to entertain thousands of people on that very important occasion. In addition to Hon. Henry W. Temple, who is to make the dedicatory address, it is anticipated that some of the higher State officials will be present, and possibly one or more distinguished soldiers of the World War. The monument is complete and completely veiled, to be given by the public spirited citizens of Monongahela as a memorial to the boys who went out from their community at the call of the President to take part in the great World War.

GOING DRY.

The province of Ontario, Canada, the largest and wealthiest province in the Dominion, has gone for prohibition by the overwhelming majority of 200,000. Three other Canadian provinces had preceded it in expelling liquor, and but three remain to vote on the question. There can be no doubt that Canada will soon follow America's example.

Then what a spectacle will be presented to the world when the entire temperate zone of a great continent casts out "THE WINE THAT MOCKS AND THE STRONG DRINK THAT RAGES."

The Chicago police say they are unable to enforce the new curfew law because costumes make no distinction between 16 and 60. They might demand that everybody on the streets after 10 o'clock carry birth certificates.

How Miserable This Woman Was Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toomsboro, Ga.—"I suffered terribly with backache and headache all the time, was so weak and nervous I didn't know what to do, and couldn't do my work. My trouble was deficient and irregular periods. I read in the papers what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and decided to give it a trial. I got good results from its use so that I am now able to do my work. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have trouble similar to mine and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. C. F. Phillips, Toomsboro, Ga.

Weak, nervous women make unhappy homes, their condition irritates husbands and children. It has been said that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," irritability and backache arise from some displacement or derangement of a woman's system. Mrs. Phillips' letter clearly shows that no other remedy is so successful in overcoming this condition as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

POPPY AS FLOWER FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Five million poppies, known as the "Flanders poppies" have arrived in America to be worn by Americans on Memorial Day, in commemoration of the fallen heroes of the late war. The flowers, most of which were made by French war orphans, will be sent by the American-France Children's League, on Madison Avenue, New York City, to many patriotic societies throughout the country for distribution on Memorial Day.

The American-France Children's League, which is the only official American branch of La Ligue Américaine Française des Enfants, of Paris, has been endorsed by the National Information Bureau.

The proceeds of the poppy sales will go to the league for the amelioration of conditions among children in the war-torn areas, innocent victims of the late war. The league is a clearing house for relief work among French children and numbers among its members men and women prominent in the philanthropic activities of both nations.

The Flanders poppy has been selected as the memorial flower because it was seen by many to represent "the soul of the dead." It was immortalized in verse by John McCrae. Its adoption as the Memorial Day flower will serve a three-fold purpose—the commemoration of the dead, the relief of children of France and the tightening of the bonds of friendship between France and America.

How would YOU like to manage a Continental Grocery Store?

TWO unusual men are going to realize right here in this community the ambition of their lives—to have a business of their own.

How would you like to have a $1,000,000 corporation establish you in business? And have the best brains of the company guide you?

Continental Grocery Stores of Pa. Inc., are going to open neighborhood stores throughout the Pittsburgh district.

There is no age limit. No store experience necessary. The only qualifications are honesty, good health, pleasing personality, and a determination to make your work a success. Following your selection, you will be placed in our training school and taught how to make the most of your opportunities as a Continental manager.

We will pay you a salary, commission and dividends on your investment in the company. Our managers all acquire a financial interest in the company to the extent of $1,000. It is not necessary that you have this amount in cash. If you can qualify, our terms will be such as to prove entirely satisfactory to you. Thus it will be an easy way to engage in a clean, attractive and profitable business, with an assured income, and extras as much as you make them.

Chain Stores Are Good Investments

Chain store securities are excellent investments because their tremendously large buying power has made it possible to retail goods at lowest prices. It is only during the past few years, however, that their economies have been fully appreciated. Because of increasing prices of foodstuffs, housewives of America are studying prices. They are shopping for groceries as they shop for wearing apparel—looking for values. Chain stores are the "economy stores" of the grocery business.

Continental Grocery Stores of Pa. Inc., will make its purchases in carload lots, direct from manufacturers, for cash. Its stores will be supplied from one central warehouse. Our retail selling price will be less than the buying price of the individual retailer. Lower prices mean faster turnover of stock and fresher goods. Deliveries, phone orders and charge accounts will be eliminated, assuring customers of lowest possible prices on choicest groceries.

Shareholders Will Be Your Customers

There will be a house-to-house canvass in every neighborhood where a Continental Grocery Store is located. Each family will be told how it can reduce its high cost of living by trading at one of our neighborhood stores. Each family will be given an opportunity to own stock in the company, thus further sharing in the management of the company. This will result in prestige and advertising for every Continental Grocery Store.

How to Get the Facts

No matter what you are now doing, or where you live, send us the coupon below. An interview will be promptly arranged. Resolve to stop ringing the time clock. Demand something more than a pay envelope. Decide to be a manager of a Continental store. Get the complete facts concerning the organization, the men back of it, and their successful record as merchandisers. It is your chance to engage in a business that offers unlimited opportunities for advancement. Mail the coupon NOW.

EXCEPTIONS FILED TO FINDINGS IN LOCAL SUIT

Exceptions to the findings of the court have been filed in the suit of T. D. Williamson of Charleroi against George W. Dawson. This is the suit involving a claim of the plaintiff for share in the consideration received by the defendant in the sale of certain coal property. The defendant contended that at the time the sale was made the plaintiff had no title or interest in the property sold. The suit was decided in favor of the defendant.

Mr. Merchant: Let the people of Charleroi and vicinity know what you have to sell, and the advantages of dealing with you. Then there will be no need of knocking the mail order houses.

AGED LADY IN SOMERSET HOME

Mrs. Sarah L. Melvaine, wife of P. C. Melvaine, of Somerset township, died Sunday morning at her home, aged 88 years. She was the daughter of Rev. James and Sarah Lindsay Sloan, and was born in West Middletown, this county, January 17, 1833. Her father, Rev. Jas. Sloan, was for 18 years pastor of the Pigeon Creek Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member at the time of her death. She is survived by her husband, R. C. Melvaine, who is now 94 years of age; two sons, William L. Melvaine of Somerset township, and Dr. E. S. Melvaine of Pittsburg, and one daughter, Mrs. Gertrude E. Wood of Riverside, Cal. The deceased was the aunt of Frank Melvaine of Charleroi.

Get the Prest-O-Lite Prescription for that Bilious Battery

Get that examination NOW!

ARE your lights dim and yellow? Do you get a lazy spark? Does the starter labor to throw the engine over? Your battery may show none of these symptoms, and still need looking over.

Tuning up the motor and putting grease in the cups and transmission don't constitute the Spring overhauling. What about the battery, the electric heart of the whole works?

It may be all right, but find out. When you do need a new battery, you'll be glad to know that Prest-O-Lite is back to pre-war prices and that an allowance will be made on your old battery.

Drive around to the Prest-O-Lite Service Station and get the correct dope on your battery's condition. That's the common-sense thing to do. A little attention now may save you the price of a new battery later.

"The Home of Foot Comfort"

Marked Era in Journalism.

The Edinburgh Review, established in 1802, was the first high-class critical journal to find a permanent footing and achieve success. Its founders were Jeffrey Scott, Horner, Broughman and Sydney Smith and under them it developed a new era in periodical criticism, having a wider range and more elevated tone than any of its predecessors.

Ancestry Probably Persian.

In the mountains of southern Arabia, a region of tremendous crags and precipices, lives a mysterious tribe of people who are entirely different from the Arabs. They are far lighter in color, and live in villages, not tents. They are said to be a relic of the Persian army which invaded the country nearly 1,000 years ago.

Finger-Nail Secrets.

Those who believe that finger-nails indicate character say that red nails show a nature that likes to rule others and a disposition that is inclined to cruelty. White nails denote that their owner is fond of the opposite sex, but he or she is not strong either in constitution or in character.

Whole Household There.

When Mr. and Mrs. Smith, with their pet fox terrier, called just before dinner, Buddy hurried to the kitchen, where mother was cooking a chicken, and said: "You'd better make a lot of gravy, mamma, 'cause Mr. Smith has brought all his family with him."
